PASTOR'S NOTES

NEWS FROM SPOKANE, WA

A few weeks ago (a couple days after our surf trip...and Calista's car purchase— a 2003 mini cooper...) I came home to find that someone had changed the background on my computer. The picture had been blown up significantly and it was quite pixilated but after a few moments, I figured it out what it was. It was the first of several pregnancy tests that Calista had taken that morning just to be sure...and it was positive. We sat on this information until Calista had her first doctors appointment last week where we confirmed that the nausea from the last several weeks was not a coincidence...she is indeed pregnant. This last weekend we broke the news to the grandparents and are now finally able to share the news with all our friends. Calista is about 8 weeks along, putting her due date on May 26. We're really excited and will share more as things progress. By the way, if you're bored, John Pak seems to have started an unofficial contest for naming our child...and we'll also be taking applications from former youth for our nanny (male or female) come next summer. We miss you all and recommend that you come for a visit. However, be forewarned, if you do come, you probably won't want to leave. The good news is that there is plenty of real estate for sale at great prices...we'll even help you unpack...

— Caleb

HEALTHY BYTES

PUMPKIN HARVEST SOUP

- 3-4 cups steamed pumpkin
- ¼ tsp ground ginger
- 1/8 tsp. white pepper
- ¼-1/2 tsp. salt (to taste)
- 1 Tbls. Bill’s Best Chicknish broth/seasoning*
- 1 cup hot water
- 1 cup organic soy milk
- 1-2 tbls. Organic butter or non dairy spread

Scoop steamed pumpkin into blender; add soymilk and blend. Prepare broth with hot water, and add all other ingredients to blender. Blend until smooth. Place into soup pot and simmer for 10-20 min. Or into crock pot on low for 1-2 hours. Serve with warm bread.

You can substitute a prepared broth for the water and seasoning mix. Add water or broth to desired thickness.

*You can find Bill’s Best at Adventist Book Center or online at http://www.weimarmarket.com/catalog/index.php?cPath=22\_39

Costumes are welcome (please nothing scary, crude, or evil). You won't want to miss this fun event – see you there!

THANK YOU, THANK YOU, THANK YOU...

Sunnyside Church members, Thank you so much for cards, prayers, calls, and the beautiful flower plant. I had ventricular tachycardia; but, the doctor says I'm well now.

Love, Emerson Montgomery

Thank you to my church family for the beautiful blooming plant that I received during my recovery.

– Delaine Morford
